Oil Fuel Useful For the Warships

Washington, June 17.—The Navy De partment today made public the conlusions of the liquid fuel board of the pavy, consisting of Commander John Edward, Lieutenant Commander F. H. Parks and Lieutenant R. H. Hanley formed as the results of tests covering a period of twenty-eight months with coal and oil respectively as navy fuel.

In the opinion of the board an intelli-gent fireroom force should find no trouble in burning oil in a uniform man per, and for general purposes on shore high pressure steam was found to be a better spraying medium than air. Regarding the question of burners, the board says "that as the warship is designed to be operated at short notice under the severest forced draught corditions, the question will have to be considered whether it is not more advisable to fit air burners that would be found most efficient for the day of battie, rather than in an installation of steam burners that are most desirable for general cruising."

The board declares that no fuel oil installation should be permitted for marine purposes which would not perple. We have nearly all he ever mit a return to coal within twenty-wrote and they are so good that you can select any one at random and feel oil supply. In conclusion the board in and practically our entire yield is se-cured from fields which are in pipe line communication with important maritime and strategic ports, the board considers that a joint commis-sion representing the commercial, manufacturing, maritime and naval interests should be authorized by Congress, whose province it would be to formulate rules and regulations that would provide for an economical, efficient, enduring and safe fuel oil installation. Particularly for the development of our commercial interests in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Pacific coast should the work of such commission have an important influence in extending our prestige and power, whe ther viewed from a commercial, marttime or naval standpoint."
